

K Home was represented at the 25th ARABAL conference by Dave Ellerton and Andrew Home. Senior representatives from major aluminium companies and other industry experts made presentations about issues facing the industry.

Although demand for aluminium will slacken during 2009, the overall consensus was that, by 2025, world consumption will have grown by 35 million tonnes per annum which will require another 50 smelters of the size of Qatalum or EMAL to be built in the next 17 years.